

THE LIGHT PAPERS

OCTOBER 2019

ISSUE NO. 1

CHOOSE THE RIGHT PEOPLE

Building a business is one of the most difficult things in life to do. The amount of anxiety that you feel in your gut, it's visceral. Only Small Business Owners know and understand this. Whether it was your first commercial real estate transaction or your most recent - the best or worst. Good or bad, stress is still stress.

To add to this, you can't really blame it on your boss because it's you. You have to acknowledge that you are now in charge of EVERYTHING. Your website, QuickBooks, POS system, employees, benefits, each and every last thing including yourself. You live with the uncertainty of success which may drive you to be overwhelmed at the least.

To complicate things, business and society today is challenging. Just 15 years ago, business was not what we know today. We did so little with our computers while mostly building our businesses on relationships in person or on our Razors. We received about 15-20 emails and would still fax in important paperwork that needed to be signed.

Now we easily get 100+ emails a day, we e-sign paperwork and refresh our smartphones to ensure all our paperwork was sent or received. We have to decide on websites, social pages, software along with our hardware, cloud and secure information drives in addition to the licenses, taxes, insurance, and etc. How did it become so complicated?

A lot of us are right in the middle of our lives - too young to retire and too old to take too many risks. We build what we build now, not just for us but for our families - our legacies. We worry about our decisions affecting the future as well as missing out on anything important now.

So how do we remedy this? You partner with people who can help you achieve your goals and who share those same goals of providing for the future. CH Capital Partners has the expertise and rolodex to allow you to gather the best of all resources so that you get a macro view of your business. Let us help you every step of the way because it's our business to get to know your business.

In addition, we have a referral program to help other businesses that benefit you directly. We all rise together and only then can we bring the new wave of growth to our businesses.

CH Capital Partners - you owe it to yourself to work with us. Your boss will thank you!
